Section C

V. Read the passage given below and answer the following questions:

A sanctuary may be defined as a place where Man is passive and the rest of Nature active. Till quite recently Nature had her own sanctuaries, where man either did not go at all or only as a tool-using animal in comparatively small numbers. But now, in this machinery age, there is no place left where man cannot go with overwhelming forces at his command. He can strangle to death all the nobler wild life in the world to-day. Tomorrow he certainly will have done so, unless he exercises due foresight and self-control in the mean time.

There is not the slightest doubt that birds and mammals are now being killed off much faster than they can breed. And it is always the largest and noblest forms of life that suffer most. The whales and elephants, lions and eagles, go. The rats and flies, and all mean parasites, remain. This is inevitable in certain cases. But it is wanton killing off that I am speaking of tonight. Civilized man begins by destroying the very forms of wild life he learns to appreciate most when he becomes still more civilized. The obvious remedy is to begin conservation at an earlier stage, when it is easier and better in every way, by enforcing laws for close seasons, game preserves, the selective protection of certain species, and sanctuaries.

I have just defined a sanctuary as a place where man is passive and the rest of Nature active. But this general definition is too absolute for any special case. The mere fact that man has to protect a sanctuary does away with his purely passive attitude. Then, he can be beneficially active by destroying pests and parasites, like bot-flies or mosquitoes, and by finding antidotes for diseases like the epidemic which periodically kills off the rabbits and thus starves many of the carnivores to death. But, except in cases where experiment has proved his intervention to be beneficial, the less he upsets the balance of Nature the better, even when he tries to be an earthly Providence.

Part -I

1. What is the definition of a sanctuary according to the speaker?
2. Which group of creatures suffer most due to human atrocities?
3. What is the obvious remedy to the problem according to the speaker?
4. How can Man be beneficially active?
5. Choose the word from the passage which means ‘that which cannot be avoided’.

(5x1=5 marks)

Part - II

VI. Based on the passage given above answer any one of the following question in 80 words.

6. How does the author ironically contradict his/her own definition of sanctuary in the passage?
7. The narrator is purposefully using the pronoun ‘he’ to refer to human beings. Elucidate
8. Comment on the tone of the author as expressed in the passage.
